The seasonal Range Technician positions will be part of the invasive weeds crew on the districts. The forest treats an average of 2,200 acres of weeds per year. These positions will require a pesticide applicators license which will be obtained at the beginning of the field season. Range Technicians will be spraying noxious weeds in remote locations in the Uinta Mountains – access is by truck, ATV, boat or horseback. Other duties may include assisting Rangeland Management Specialists with range improvement projects, vegetation monitoring and rangeland management issues. The anticipated start date is mid-May 2015 with an expected end of season date of September 2015. The position will work four days a week, 10 hours a day for a 40 hour week. Previous certification to spray weeds is a plus.

Housing: Seasonal government housing is available in Duchesne, UT. No seasonal government housing in Manila, UT.

About the Forest

Ashley National Forest has its headquarters in Vernal, Utah; it comprises 1.3 million acres located in the northeastern portion of Utah and southwestern portion of Wyoming. National Forest System lands are located in three major areas: the northern and southern slopes of the Uinta Mountains, the Wyoming Basin, and the Tavaputs Plateau.

The Ashley National Forest is bordered by the Uintah and Ouray Ute Indian Reservation, the Uinta and Wasatch-Cache National Forests, private property, and lands administered by the Bureau of Land Management and State of Utah. Dinosaur National Monument is located approximately 10 miles east of the Forest.

The Ashley National Forest was established by President Theodore Roosevelt in 1908. Its forest and range lands are protected and managed to ensure timber, grazing, minerals, water, and outdoor recreation for the American people.

The vast Uinta Mountains watershed within the Forest boundary provides vital water supplies for power, industry, farm, and city use in Utah, Nevada, Wyoming, and California. Sheep, cattle, and horses graze under permit on over a half million acres of the Forest each season. Timber is managed in harmony with other resources to insure a continuing supply and a quality environment. Over 2.5 million visitors come to the Forest each year to participate in outstanding outdoor recreation activities, such as boating, fishing, camping, hiking, backpacking, horseback riding, cross-country skiing, and snowmobiling.

Forest landscape ranges from high desert country to high mountain areas. The elevation varies from a low of 6,000 feet to a high of 13,528 feet above sea level at the summit of Kings Peak.

Topographical diversity and intensive land management has served to protect the visual quality on the Forest. The existing vegetation patterns and the geological formations further add to the aesthetic value. The Forest boundaries include places such as the Sheep Creek Geological Area, the High Uinta Wilderness area, the Green River, and the Flaming Gorge National Recreation Area.
